3. Information Only-UNLV Kirk Kerkorian School of Medicine Report (Agenda Item 4) – (continued)

Vice Chair Carvalho offered her compliments regarding the current admissions report and asked what the career prospects are for students who complete the Master of Science in Medical Science (MSMS) program. Dean Kahn answered that it is recognized that there are a number of people who have aspirations to become physicians; however, because of factors such as personal circumstances regarding family, finances, etc., those individuals may not have the grades to be eligible for medical school. The MSMS program is designed as an enrichment program to make those particular individuals more competitive in the health sciences industry.

Chair Doubrava provided comments regarding uncompensated care sharing his hope that the NSHE's partners on the Clark County Commission and Hospital Advisory Board will continue to work with the UNLV Kirk Kerkorian School of medicine on this. He also was encouraged by the philanthropic activity and thanked the administration for their work on the $13.1 million working capital forgiveness.

Regent Perkins asked for more information on the elementary school program that Dean Kahn briefly touched on during his presentation. Dean Kahn said the UNLV School of Education has been leading the charge along with the dental school, nursing school and school of medicine, by reaching out to CCSD to see if assistance is needed with enrichment programs for healthcare. Two elementary schools were chosen to participate in the after-school programs which include science, STEM, STEAM and so forth.

Regent Moran asked who supervises the fellows at UMC and other emergency facilities partnered with the medical school at UNLV. Dr. Gardner confirmed that the supervision of the medical students, fellows and residents falls under the full-time faculty and community faculty at the medical school. All of those supervisors are board certified and Nevada licensed physicians. Regent Moran shared his appreciation for the school of medicine report and commended the ongoing collaboration between the NSHE schools of medicine.

Chair Doubrava publicly expressed gratitude for Dr. Schwenk's ten years of service to the State of Nevada. He also thanked Dr. Schwenk for his dedication and hard work to improve medical education and healthcare in Nevada. Chair Doubrava concluded that all of Nevada, not just UNR, benefitted from Dr. Schwenk's wisdom, leadership, and professionalism.
7. Information Only-NSHE COVID-19 Guidance Overview and Information Update – NSHE COVID-19 Task Force Co-Chair Joe Reynolds, Chief General Counsel, and Co-Chair Caleb Cage, Vice Chancellor for Workforce Development and Chief Innovation Officer, provided an overview of COVID-19 directives, guidance, and pending issues applicable to NSHE. Chief General Counsel Reynolds stated he would focus on three things: the timeline overview; a by-the-numbers update on current statistics and also the overall state of play. There have been 50 emergency directives by Governor Sisolak; NSHE transitioned to remote instruction for all eight institutions and to remote work, which was a remarkable feat. implementations and measures taken by the Board of Regents. Further information was provided related to graduations, new ideas regarding virtual formats, COVID-19 capacity restrictions, testing and the resurgence of the Delta variant. Chief General Counsel Reynolds also provided data by the numbers, self-reporting, COVID-19 Task Force meetings and working with the State on the Web ID program and integration.

Dr. Cheryl Hug-English, Director, UNR Student Health, gave an update on recent COVID-19 developments and responses involving NSHE campuses, communities, and counties. In the 18 months after the first COVID-19 case, the virus continues to challenge and frustrate the global community. Since the update last June, there has been many changes with the Delta variant, surges in case numbers, hospitalizations, deaths, daily cases at 300 percent were seen following Labor Day compared to last year's numbers, and the daily deaths are twice as high as last year. Washoe County continues to be in a high-risk category. Dr. Hug-English noted that on a positive note the vaccination numbers are increasing and that UNR makes every effort to mitigate the spread of the virus with daily vaccinations and PODs. The "Vax the Pack" campaign is one of the many efforts to help increase vaccination as student health and safety is the primary goal. Dr. Hug-English concluded that there is great hope, the means are available and vaccination is the most successful tool.

Sonja Sibert, Vice President, Administration, Great Basin College, provided a brief update on behalf of Dr. Amber Donnelly. Ms. Sibert provided information related to contact tracing, the steady incline of cases in rural counties, after a relatively stable summer, noting that hospitals have seen the overwhelming majority of patients are those that are unvaccinated and community announcements continue to be made to promote getting vaccinated. Additional information was provided regarding transfers to hospitals, tax charges for rural hospitals, straining resources, limited testing, and the 29-39 age group is still the group with the highest rates of the COVID-19 virus.

Adam Garcia, Director, University Police Services, Southern Command, also provided an update on COVID-19 for the Southern Nevada institutions, including COVID-19 testing and vaccinations, the operations and current trends, noting that the 25-49 age group are reporting the highest numbers, followed by the 5-17 age group. Further, Director Garcia provided information about the NSHE as a key partner with the Clark County Health District to support testing and vaccination across the region. The NSHE currently operates four testing sites. Although conditions are improving slowly in Clark County, Director Garcia does anticipate seeing an increase in infection rates after Labor Day gatherings

Chief General Counsel Reynolds clarified on the record about the fluidity of the NSHE employee COVID-19 vaccination rates: earlier in the week, the vaccination numbers overall were an improvement and the numbers at UNR increased to 64.2 percent for all employees.

Chancellor Rose thanked the experts who presented the COVID-19 update and commended the professionalism, commitment, and care across the NSHE regarding the efforts to fight COVID-19.
