Mr. Williams stated that it had been rumored that a bill would be introduced in the coming Legislature to permit wide open gambling and that he would, at the January 27th meeting of the Board, offer a resolution asking that the State Legislature should not restore gambling.

Judge Talbot offered the following motion which the Secretary read at his request:

As the last Legislature recommended that the Board of Regents adjust salaries, and take into consideration the amounts paid to the President and faculty members of other similar institutions, and the size of the University, the capabilities of men employed, and the ability of the State to pay and that reductions or increases be made;

As I gave notice at the first meeting of this Board after the last Session of the Legislature, that when there would be a full meeting of the Regents, I would move this Board that salaries be adjusted in compliance with the demand of the Legislature;

As there has been no full meeting, and this Board should now comply with, and should long ago have complied with the legislative will;

As the President with $12,000 salary, $1000 paid him annually for entertaining whether extended by him or not, residence and extras, is receiving an annual compensation aggregating about $15,000 or $16,000, and twice as much as is paid by similar Universities or larger ones in the same class, and which are supported by far greater population and wealth and are better able to pay;

As compliance with the legislative action demands a reduction of this compensation of at least 1/2;

As a rule, followed on the advice of the President, limits
the Heads of Departments to $3,600 a year, except in a few instances in which this rule promulgated by him has been broken by this Board and larger salaries paid to a few on the recommendation of the President, and except in those few instances salaries of faculty members are lower than generally paid at other Universities in the same class;

As this State is the smallest in population and taxable wealth and is the least able to pay high salaries;

As the University is now receiving, in addition to the amount allowed public schools, the maximum of taxation allowed by the Constitution for education;

As the payment of high salary to the President has consumed the surplus and depleted the funds of the University to the verge of a deficit, so that unless his salary is reduced money will not be available for increasing other salaries which relatively are not half so high, nor for the payment of pensions for which the University is obligated, nor for necessary repair and upkeep of buildings;

And, as, for half the compensation now paid the President, good Presidents can be obtained from among the faculty members, or by employing experienced and efficient men who are now serving as Presidents of other Universities for less;

I move, firstly, that the salary of the President be reduced to $7,500 a year, the amount for which he first served as President at this University, and which with the emoluments will make an aggregate compensation of about $10,000 or $11,000 a year, or twice as much as the President, before coming here, received with his salary of $5,000 in New York City, where salaries and living expenses are exceptionally high;

Secondly, that the Comptroller be directed to report to this Board his estimate of the amount, which after such reduction in the salary of the President, will, after payment of the usual cost of maintaining the University, be available annually for an increase in the salaries of members of the faculty which are too low.

Mr. Wingfield moved that the resolution or motion submitted by Judge Talbot be put over to the next meeting for further consideration. Vote:

Judge Talbot No
Judge Talbot intimated that Mr. W. R. Blackler, a Professor at this University, was soliciting business in writing for some law firm with which he is connected, which solicitation was reprehensible and which would cause suspension of a member by the Bar Association and that Mr. Blackler was on a full-time job here at the University and should be serving the University and not be permitted to engage in private practice in the town. Judge Brown is to look into this matter so soon as Judge Talbot presents to him the letter which Mr. Blackler had written and which was in possession of some lawyer in Reno, who showed the letter to Judge Talbot.

Mr. Williams moved that the Board adjourn and the motion was carried unanimously.
