An Update on the Current RFP	The Technology Task Force , the subcommittee of the NSHE Board of Regents which oversees the iNtegrate project, began working with the Request for Pro- posal (RFP) #7499 responses collected in January 2006. The responses were reviewed, site visits were conducted, and negotiations were initi- ated. The process was then frozen to accommodate a new RFP, with the original RFP respondents agreeing to leave their bids on the table for one year. The second RFP (#7540) was released, requesting responses based on a different implementation architecture. By the July 13, 2006 due date, RFP #7540, which is available for viewing along with other project documents at integrate.nevada.edu, had received responses from these bidders: Sungard/SCT Banner Oracle/PeopleSoft & Ciber (partnership) CedarCrestone Using Oracle Software An additional RFP (#7552) was issued to secure a consulting firm to provide indepen- dent analyses of RFPs #7499 and #7540. Moran Technology Consulting (unrelated to NSHE employee Ray Moran) was chosen to provide the services. RFP #7540 specified the formation of a Steering Committee composed of represen- tatives from every NSHE campus. At the July 12, 2006 Technology Task Force meet- ing, Dr. Kenneth McCollum, Associate Vice-Chancellor for Information Technology, was selected to lead the iNtegrate Steering Committee. The Steering Committee was charged to make a recommendation regarding the selec- tion of an Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) system to be brought to the Technol- ogy Task Force prior to the January 25-26, 2007 Board of Regents meeting. Obviously, with such a complex system, there are many issues to be decided (the most effective implementation strategy regarding the software application, location of hardware, the sequence for module implementation, etc.). The work of the Steer- ing Committee is underway and the group will convene weekly into December. The Steering Committee has set up six teams to review the responses and provide evaluations. The leads for those teams and membership f
